

Seven Commercial Drone Predictions for 2017

“Utilizing a system that delivers actionable information rather than data is what they’re all asking to see in one way or another.”
 - Chris Korody, Principal at DroneBusiness.center

“The drone industry must absolutely band together and make themselves heard at the local and state level.”
 - Steve Hogan, Drone Lawyer at Ausley & McMullen

“Drone enthusiasts are going to run into the reality of the financial operations of the company - There are going to be some big clashes in 2017.”
 - David Boardman, Founder and CEO of URC Ventures

“It’s really all about what problems are being addressed and what problems are being solved.”
 - Michael Singer, CEO of DroneView Technologies

“While the general public still has its reservations, I believe that once they see the benefits and life saving capabilities they will have a more open mind about UAVs.”
 - Jeri Donaldson, CEO and owner of FlyCam UAV

“Any commercial operator who wants to be able to fulfill a variety of commercial contracts needs proper insurance.”
 - Chris Proudlove, Senior Vice President at Global Aerospace

“The drone industry as a whole is moving forward - the process itself will create opportunities for operators and organizations across the world that want to leverage the technology.”
 - Kay Wackwitz, CEO & Founder of Drone Industry Insights